

Serbian prepositions and cases they require on their nouns

The following is an alphabetical list of Serbian prepositions and cases they require on their noun phrase objects (shown as a subscript).

For instance, bez_{gen} means that preposition bez 'without' requires genitive noun that follows it; nad_{acc,ins} means that preposition nad 'above' requires either a noun in the accusative or the instrumental case. For examples, see Table 2 below.

Note that prepositions themselves do not change their form. They are 'undeclinable' or uninflected. So, one less thing to worry about.

Please use this table together with noun-declension classes, to help you choose the right noun case endings after the prepositions.

The abbreviations of cases are as follows:

nom (nominative) dat (dative) loc (locative)
gen (genitive) acc (accusative) ins (instrumental)

One generalization that can be observed from looking at this table is that majority of the prepositions require genitive case (written in red), and only a few (in green and highlighted) require other cases. So, if you're not sure what case to use after a preposition, your most probable guess is the genitive case.
